Show them what you've got

There has never been a better time than now to create the car you've always wanted. Add a set of mag wheels, a spoiler or a body kit and your car is transformed into something that stands out from the crowd.

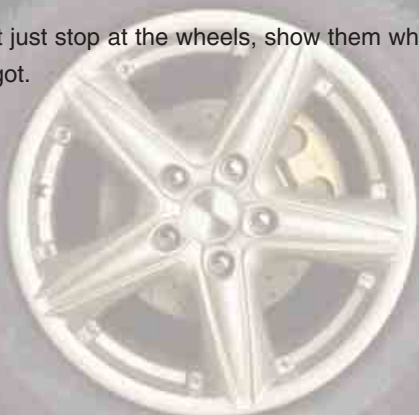

But what about the brakes?

Many of today's best looking cars are taking advantage of all that extra space between the spokes and hitting the showroom floor with coloured brake calipers.

But you don't have to buy a new car to have great looking brakes. After years of developing coloured brake calipers for new cars, PBR has released the PBR Sports range - for people who want to inject a bit of life into their cars.

The PBR Sports range of brake calipers is specifically designed for Falcon and Commodore owners and gives you the flexibility to choose the colour that best suits your car and wheel combination.

So don't just stop at the wheels, show them what you've got.

What's in the box?

PBR Sports brake calipers are sold as either front or rear axle sets. Inside each pack you will receive a right and left hand PBR Sports caliper body, factory tested and fitted with new pistons and seals, and a replacement set of disc pads.

So when you've finished the job, not only will your brakes look great, they'll be ready for business.

Quality to last the distance

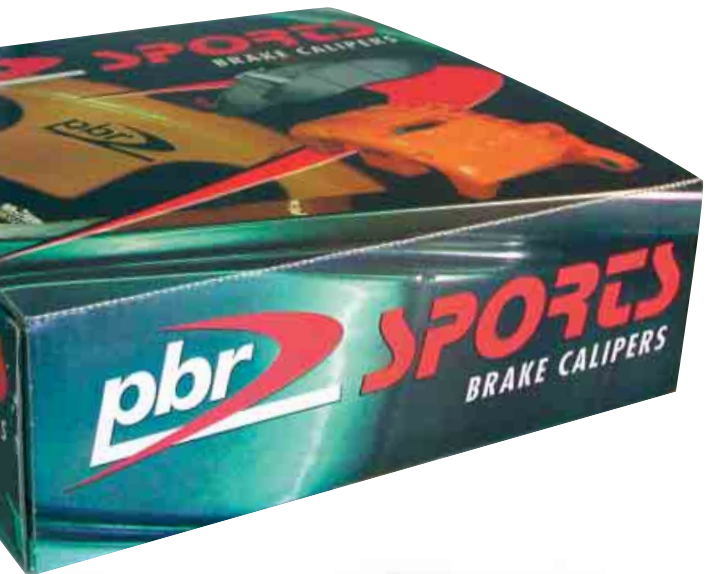

PBR has been supplying coloured brake calipers to suit new cars for many years now.

Having supplied names such as Corvette and Mustang Cobra in the US and Holden Special Vehicles, Tickford and Ford Performance Vehicles in Australia, there is no doubt that we understand quality.

The coating used on PBR Sports calipers has been specifically developed to provide resistance to chipping, brake fluid, petrol and automotive oils. In addition it is designed to withstand temperatures up to 120°C and maintain colour quality.

The PBR Sports disc pads are original equipment quality and designed to provide maximum stopping power across the widest temperature range.
